

Declaration of authorship, good practices and transfer of rights

The board of the magazine reminds the authors of the manuscripts that their content must be original and should not have been published previously in any other medium.

The only materials that will be accepted despite having been published partially or completely in the past will be those that are not in a digital format and that are not easily spread. In these cases, the date and source of said publication should still be specified.

The authors that sign the article should be the same ones that have contributed to its conception, realization and development, as well as to the research of its data, the interpretation of its results, its writing and its revision.

The author submitting the article has to fill in the form that follows. At the end of said form there is a sheet that must be signed by the coauthors of the work. The corresponding author should regroup these signatures in a same page. If this is not possible, the author should attach as many copies of the signature sheet as needed until all of the authors' signatures have been regrouped, thus incorporating them in the complete form.

This form should be sent to the journal in a separate document, at the same time than the article. The article should not include the name of the author or his affiliation.

None of the data presented in this work has been plagiarized, invented, manipulated or distorted. The original data is clearly distinguished from the published data.

The original sources on which the manuscript is based are identifiable and correctly cited. The same goes for the theories and data proceeding from other previously published works.

All data, such as tables, graphs and photographs that have been previously published are adequately cited and their reproduction has been allowed.

All data obtained by verbal or written communication correspond to said communication or authorship and the author has been granted permission to use this data.
